

WATCH Study Team

Professor Susan Rees

Dr Rees is a full-time Professor in Psychiatry with a public health and social science background. From 2009-2013 she was an ARC QE11 Research Fellow. Professor Rees was one of only 3 academics in the Faculty of Medicine and the only one in Psychiatry to be awarded the prestigious UNSW SPF03 continues academic appointment beginning in 2014, the program aimed at promoting research at UNSW. Her research focus is refugee mental health, gender and gender-based violence. She has worked as a practitioner in the domestic violence and child protection sectors, as well as in policy positions related to women's health and welfare service development and delivery. Professor Rees is recognised as a committed research in the refugee field, working with refugee communities and particularly women refugees. Professor Rees has particular expertise in research translation, interventions, program evaluations and cohort studies. Her methodological expertise includes mixed methods, qualitative methods and longitudinal studies.

Batool Moussa

Batool Moussa is a research and policy professional based in Melbourne, Australia. Batool holds a combined Bachelors of Arts/Laws, a Master of Social Policy and a Graduate Certificate in Applied Statistics. She has over three years' experience in policy development, law and advocacy in the not-for-profit sector and over six years of experience in applied social research and knowledge translation. Batool is currently a Research and Policy Officer at the Migrant Workers Centre.

Batoul Khalil

Research Assistant University of New South Wales (2016- current)

- Conduct an Interview with participants (pregnant women) In English and Arabic about their mental health and wellbeing at Liverpool hospital (in person and over the phone).
- Follow up with the participants after pregnancy and conduct another interview.
- Follow the research ethics of confidentiality.
- Be accurate in my data collection.
- Apply the duty of care (towards the women and her baby).
- Act professionally under the terms and procedures of UNSW
- Work in a team with my supervisor and colleagues.
- Finish my interview in a time frame and as what is required.

Nawal Moussa

Yalini Krishna

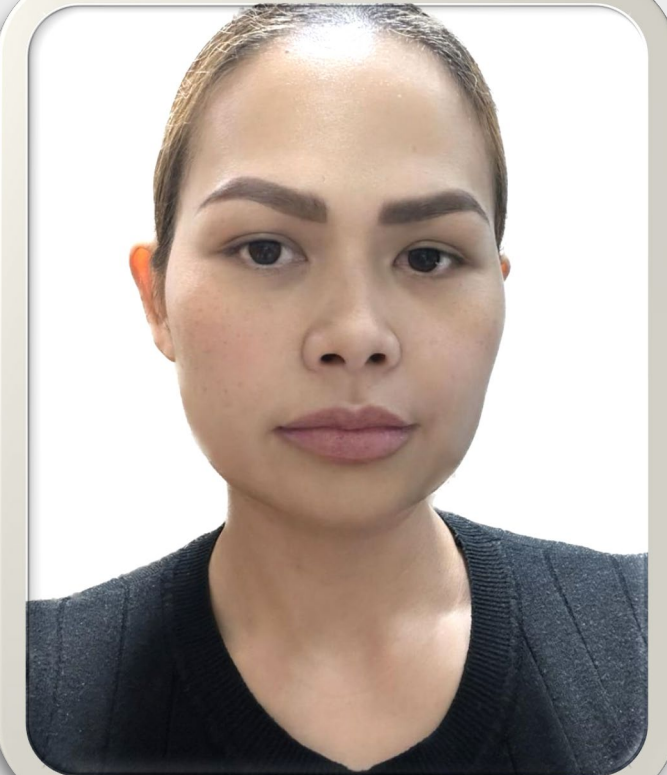

Mariam Yousif

Anggy Durate

Anggy Duarte has been an integral part of the WATCH Study project for over three years as a Research Assistant based in Melbourne. Anggy academic background includes an Advanced Diploma in Economics, complemented by her ongoing pursuit of a Certificate in Health Science to embark on a rewarding nursing career path

Fatme Hassoun

Fatme Hassoun's educational background includes a Bachelor's degree in Business Management/Computer from the Islamic University of Lebanon and additional coursework in Sociology. I have over 10 years work experience in my current role as a Research Assistant at the University of New South Wales and some admin work, where I conduct interviews, handle data, and adhere to research ethics. I have also worked in management, marketing, and customer service roles at BLOM Development Bank and Amana Insurance. My diverse skill set includes diplomas in Early Childhood Education and Care Management. I am bilingual (English and Arabic), possess technology proficiency, and hold various certificates related to safety and research ethics.

Batoul Khalil

